History of the Class of '24

We are enthroned at last on the pedestal of Senior glory. Though the fierce struggles have left us breathless on the shore, up, up, Seniors! It is for us to bring credit and fame to our Alma Mater, old F. H. S. Four years of arduous toil have brought us to the top of the ladder, ready for the great battle of life.

As Freshmen we entered high school full of hope for the future. In spite of our verdant natures, we displayed a most intelligent aspect to our superiors. Our officers were President, Douglas Roethel,; Vice-president, Verna Christ; Secretary, Arthur Will; Treasurer, Verona Klement; Annual Representative, William Knilans. We made no great showing in our Freshman year, but then—"Great oaks from little acorns grow."

In our Sophomore year we adopted a supercilious air. We had advanced beyond the pale of ignorance. We were quite well represented in school activities by Lucille Durant in declamation and Douglas Roethel and Lyle Sund in football. We elected as our class officers: President, Ray Lee; Vice-president, Clarence Buending; Secretary, Arthur Will; Treasurer, Irene Sievert; Annual Representative, Laura Wagner.

As Juniors we blossomed out and showed but a slight subservience to the dignified Seniors—so great was our pride. Again we elected the fittest of the class for our officers. They were Ray Lee, President; Janet Farnsworth, Treasurer and Annual representative.

This year the Freshmen find us positively unapproachable—we have become so austere. Russell Rheineck is our able President; Ray Lee, Vice-president; Irene Sievert, Secretary and Treasurer.

Ever since we entered High School we have been noted for our exclusive and entertaining social activities. Our prom was in the best order, and our mixers have boasted large crowds who declared that they always had a "peach of a time."

And this is not the only star in our crown. We have promoted a large number from our ranks to forensics. In the field of declamation were: Lucille Durant, Laura Wagner, Lorraine Franzel, Irene Sievert, and Beatrice Neumann. In debate were Irene Sievert, Arthur Kiesling, Emma Wegeman, Wesley Wetzel, and Arnim Luedtke.

Other shining comets were our athletes, "Doug" Roethel, "Ike" Jones, "Storky" Edwards, "Mick" Sund, and Arnim Luedtke.

Here's a toast for the future. Though we may not all achieve fame, may we ever be as dignified and as scholastic as we are now, and may we be as ambitious for the future as we have been during our whole school career.

VIOLET PREUSSE

Junior Class History

We, the class of '25, are now about to enter upon the home stretch of our high school career. For three years we have endured the haughty glances of the upper classmen. However, they have not greatly affected us, one of "Fort" High School's largest classes. One hundred ten of us entered the High School three years ago, and we are now seventy-five strong.

During the three years that we have held down the seats in the assembly room, we have contributed many "stars" to various activities. In athletics we have made a very good showing in Arthur McNitt, Austin Cornish and Wesley Heinze upon the gridiron, and in Willis Wilson, Wesley Heinze and Cecil Smith on the basket ball floor. In tennis too, we were very well represented.

In debate, George Sherman and John Eales showed splendid ability. In declamation, Arvilla Boese has won honors each year. In all, we have made an excellent record.

For this year's class officers, we elected the following: George Sherman, president; Catherine Nettesheim, vice-president; and Esther Haight, secretary-treasurer.

We gave two successful mixers in our Freshman and Sophomore years. The "hard time" party given this year with the help of our class advisor, Miss Bertha H. Seward, was certainly a record-breaker. It is said that "clothes don't make men," but old clothes made some look like "sin" on that occasion.

Many of our class are members of the High School Orchestra, adding greatly to its volume. In the Glee Club many of the girls have proved themselves fine warblers.

On May 17, the annual Junior prom took place. All had a rousing good time "tripping the light fantastic toe."

Then here's to the class of '25! May the last year in our dear High School be as full of success as the preceding years and may we always be a credit to our school.

Sophomore Class History

We "wise" Sophomores wish to record in permanent form the deeds of the class of '26 for the edification of the verdant Freshmen and the envy of the upper classmen.

"In numbers there is strength," so we are deserving of special mention. We had the distinction of being the largest class ever entering the F. H. S. when we knocked on her door in 1922. Now when our roll is called, eighty-seven respond.

We realize that quality is more important than quantity and are proud of the fact that the real contributions made by our class to the life of the High School, are due to the superior mental and physical achievements of our members.

At a class meeting in October we elected as president Bertha Bienfang, and Evelyn Homan secretary and treasurer. At the time of the mid-year promotions we had a new election and William Urban was chosen president.

Though we had little part in the activities last year, except for the publishing of that famous paper, "Green Gossip", we are making up for it now.

For the first time in several years a Sophomore made the debating team. Good for Herbert F. Wisch! William Urban won the Freshman-Sophomore oratorical contest and Evelyn Homan the girls' declamatory contest.

Bernard Machgan, "Sid" Lein, and Harry Florin labored for us during the football season and Harold Roessler helped gather laurel leaves as a basketball player.

Last but not least—seven Sophomores have been in the school orchestra, one-third of the total number.

We feel that much of our success as well as happiness as a class is due to the splendid leadership of "Jeff", our class advisor.

We regret that he is not to be with us during the next two years in the old school, but we shall remember him always.

Our best wishes, Jeff, for your success and happiness wherever you may go. Remember us always and we'll try to live up to the standard you have set us.

Freshman Class History

We, the Freshman Class of 1923-24, of course had to take our measure of jests as freshmen and greenies; but all who have gone before us have had to suffer as much. We have a long way to go before we reach the goal of graduation, but what others have done we can do and so overcome our "greenness."

At the beginning of the school year we were ninety-four strong. We elected as our class officers: Agnes Snell, president; Howard Guetzlaff, secretary; and Betty Burchard, treasurer. Miss Grace Hessing was appointed our class advisor.

At the end of the first semester thirty-one freshmen were found leaving their green career behind them and becoming sedate sophomores. At the same time twenty-eight diligent students arrived from the Junior High School, and since then two more have come in from different communities, making a total enrollment in the Freshman class of ninety-nine. They elected as their class president, Walter Dahms; vice-president, Dorothy Hake; secretary, Howard Guetzlaff, and treasurer, Roland Hagemann.

The frosh party was a great success and was well attended. Our class helped in most activities; Frederick Dornbush represented us on the football field; Walter Dahms on the basketball floor; Miriam Dexheimer represented us in the final declamatory contest; and Maynard Kiesling and George Hensey in the final oratorical contest.

Two issues of "Green Gossip" were published, Josephine Dieckhoff acting as editor and Betsy Clark as assistant editor. As a whole, the Freshman Class can't be beat!

CLASS PLAY

"CLARENCE"

A Comedy in Four Acts

THE CAST

Mrs. Martyn	Ruth Hummel
Mr. Wheeler	Ray Lee
Mrs. Wheeler	Ruth Gates
Bobby Wheeler	William Roper
Cora Wheeler	Janet Farnsworth
Violet Pinney	Laura Wagner
Clarence	Russell Rheineck
Della	Irene Boese
Dinwiddie	Abe Weinberg
Hubert Stem	Clarence Langholff

The action of the play "Clarence" takes place in New York City, centering around the Wheeler family. Mr. Wheeler is a man of business affairs and Mrs. Martyn is a middle-aged woman who takes care of his office. At the opening of the play, Bobby has just returned home from school. This is the third one from which he has been expelled. In addition to this the maid, Della, is about to sue him for breach of promise. He also imagines himself in love with Violet Pinney, the governess. Cora, his sister, thinks herself in love with Mr. Hubert Stem, a grass widower, who, in reality, calls on Cora just to see the governess. Miss Pinney goes to the office with Cora to speak about her conduct to her father. Mrs. Wheeler, his second wife, becomes jealous. Clarence, an ex-soldier, arrives at the office at the same time looking for work. Mrs. Martyn misunderstands his last name. No one knows much about Clarence, but he helps in general about the Wheeler home. Cora soon forgets Mr. Stem and imagines herself in love with him. Even Della admires him. Many complications follow but in the end the ex-soldier proves to be the great entomologist, Clarence Smith. He wins the hand of the governess and so peace and happiness are restored in the Wheeler home.

Debates

Fort Atkinson High School again entered the Lawrence Debating League. The question, Resolved "that Congress should enact a Federal Law applying the esssential features of the Huber Unemployment Bill—Constitutionality Conceded," was submitted to seventy high schools of the state about the first of November. About fifteen of our high school boys began earnest work on the question and the tryout took place early in December. From the eleven who remained after the tryouts, Herbert F. Wisch, Wesley Wetzel, and John Eales were selected for the Negative team and Arthur Kiesling, George Sherman, and Arnim Luedtke for the Affirmative team.

After two and one half months of hard work and intensive drill a dual debate was held with Janesville High School. Edgerton, the third member of the league, as usual dropped out on account of insufficient preparation. The Negative team went to Janesville February 14, to debate the Janesville Affirmative and the Janesville Negative debated the Fort Affirmative on our own floor. The result of both decisions was 3 to 0 in favor of Fort Atkinson High.

March 12, the Waupun Affirmative came to Fort to debate our Negative. The results were 3 to 0 in our favor. Fort's Affirmative went to Lodi, there securing a 2 to 1 decision. The Fort Atkinson High School was awarded the Lawrence Banner for the third consecutive year as a result of the above mentioned debates.

March 28, our school entered the semifinals with Portage and Washington High of Milwaukee. The Portage Negative met our Affirmative team on our own floor and outclassed and defeated Fort by a 3 to 0 decision. The Washington High School defeated the Fort Negative at Milwaukee after a very close debate by a 2 to 1 decision. This places Fort Atkinson High School about 8th in the state. Fort Atkinson's record for the past three years has been as follows:—

Debates	Won	Lost	Place in State
8	6	2	5
10	9	1	2
6	4	2	8
24	19	5	79%

Fort Atkinson's record is an evidence of hard work on the part of its debaters, good coaching on the part of its teachers, and earnest cooperation on the part of its patriotic students and citizens.

Oratory and Declamation

MIRIAM DEXHEIMER

WILLIAM URBAN

The work of declamation and oratory has held an imporant place in our school activities for a number of years. The Junior and Senior girls were under the supervision of Miss Graves; the Freshman and Sophomore girls under Miss McLeod; the boys were instructed by various teachers.

The declamatory contestants for regular contest were: Irene Sievert, Beatrice Neumann, Lucille Durant, Arvilla Boese, Miriam Dexheimer, Gavena Vickery and Evelyn Homan. This contest was held in the High School auditorium on April 11.

"Anne of Green Gables"—Miriam Dexheimer received first place; "The Whirligig of Life"—Irene Sievert, second place; "Penrod's Affliction"—Gavena Vickery, third place.

The oratorical contest was held April 10. The boys who took part in the contest were: Claude Guenther, Ray Lee, Clarence Langholff, Robert Glover, William Urban, George Henze and Maynard Kiesling.

"Toussaint L'Overture"—William Urban obtained first place; "Plea for Cuba"—Ray Lee, second place; "A Profit's Tragedy,"—Clarence Langholff, third place.

At the district contest to be held at Edgerton, both of our contestants, Miriam Dexheimer and William Urban, will represent our school.

Athletic Association

The Athletic Association completed a successful year under the skillful guidance of its officers—Arthur McNitt, president, John Carney, vice-president, and Russell Rheineck, secretary and treasurer, After buying new equipment for both the basketball and football teams, it has retained a surplus in the treasury for next year.

The Athletic Association has done much toward promoting athletics in the Fort Atkinson High School. Through the efforts of this organization, the school has achieved a high standing in athletics.

SENIOR GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

JUNIOR GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Glee Clubs

Among the successful organizations of the Fort High School are the two Glee Clubs. The Junior Glee Club is composed of Sophomore and Junior girls, while Freshmen and Senior girls compose the Senior Glee Club. These organizations are under the supervision of Mrs. Cocke. Several of the High School entertainments have been favored with selections by the Glee Clubs.

The High School Sextet also deserves much credit for its hard work. Helen Bray, Mary Downing, Ruth Stearns, Esther Haight, Eva Mueller, and Katherine Morefield compose this group. They also have entertained pleasingly.

High School Orchestra

The Fort Atkinson High School Orchestra is an organization to view with pride. Miss Leila Snell has worked with our musicians weekly, and deserves much credit for her efforts, which have proved successful. We have had cause to be proud of their selections as they appeared at school entertainments.

Junior Party

On the evening of March 14, the Junior party was held in the High School gymnasium. Unlike the mixers of previous years, this was strictly a Junior affair. As we had decided it should be a "hard-time" party, the characters which made their appearance on the gym floor were varied. It was very evident that many attics had experienced a ransacking, such as they had not seen for some time. Gray-headed old ladies in skirts sweeping the floor made their appearance with youngsters in skirts above their knees. The boys also presented such an appearance that one would think 'twas hard times for certain. Even the faculty joined in the fun and appeared in costumes befitting the occasion.

Dancing and games were the order of the evening. At about eleven o'clock Eskimo pies were served, after which we all departed for home.

Freshman Party

O, ye upper classmen, you should have been Freshies again on the night of December fourteenth. What a glorious time we had! There was so much to do and so much fun!

An "introductory" circle started the evening. What fun it was! Next, there was a peanut toss. That is the game that requires skill. After the peanut toss, the three-cornered obstacle race took place. "Obstacle" race was right! Then there was the suit-case contest. Fun! why, you would have died laughing. Then the good old game, Jerusalem and Jericho, was played.

To all the winners of the contests, prizes were given, such as suckers, cracker jack, or a bottle of salt water.

We also had the great pleasure of seeing Messrs. McNitt and Guetzlaff in their snake dance, truly an awe-inspiring dance with the lights turned low!

Next, we were entertained by a Jazz Horn Band, from Hard-times Town, conducted by Miss Dieckhoff. The other members were the Misses Burchard, Bacon, Bergman, Hedrick, and Clark. Of these, the Misses Bacon, Clark, and Dieckhoff were dressed as gentlemen. This group, after their performance, started the dancing. You can imagine what we did the rest of the evening.

Of course we had some eats, for it couldn't have been called a party if we hadn't. We had all the ice cream sandwiches we could eat.

Then, (Boo-hoo) about ten o'clock, (Boo-hoo) came the final dance (Boo-hoo).

Les Francais Heureux

At the beginning of the year the French class, with the aid of Miss Hoppenyan, organized a French club, giving it the name of Les Francais Heureux, meaning The Happy Frenchmen. Irene Sievert was elected president and Verna Christ, secretary and treasurer.

Meetings were held at the school, on Wednesday afternoons, every three weeks. At these meetings, business came first; then a program was given, games were played and refreshments served.

To make the work more interesting, each student was required to keep a French Scrap Book in which items of interest were placed.

Altogether the work was not only entertaining but profitable as well. The students not only became better acquainted with the French language, but this work also familiarized them with the French customs, and we hope that this plan will be carried out by the succeeding French classes.

Junior High School

For four years the seventh and eighth grades have been organized under department teachers and have been called the "Junior High School".

The girls take Domestic Science in the High School, while the boys take manual training in their own school.

There have been numerous activities in the Junior High School this year. The Junior Orchestra is composed of those who expect to be members of the High School orchestra. There has been considerable activity in athletics under the supervision of Mr. Swanson, preparing the boys for these activities in High School.

Following is the list of the Junior High School faculty: Mr. Swanson, the Misses Winifred Edsall, Mary Robertson, Gertrude Van Hagen, Ruby Leonardson, Vera Beach, Pearl Collamore, Messrs. Bingham and Jeffords, Mrs. Cocke and Mrs. Krebs.

Adventures of a Football Captain

The football team of F— High School was waiting for the train to J—, where they were to play the final game of the season. Stub Maxwell, captain and star player, was fuming about impatiently, and upsetting all the rest of the team. Things had gone wrong with him that day. He had overslept in the morning; he had been late for school; he had had an unexpectedly hard test in history and, above all, he had just discovered that he had forgotten his football shoes. "What luck, fellows! Now I have to go back. S'pose I can make it?"

"By all means, if you don't waste too much time talking about it," replied his pal, Bill.

"Aw, you ———!" The retort was lost as he dashed down the platform in the direction of his home. The train was due at 2:10, and it was now precisely 2:03 o'clock. Stub made good time, but it was not until 2:07 that he ran down his front steps and turned again in the direction of the station. As he neared the station, he heard frantic cries from his team mates, importing the coming of the train, and saw them gesticulating wildly to him. Still running, he saw the train stop and the boys get on. Then, while he was still one-fourth of a block away, it pulled out.

Stub's mind was a blank; he was speechless. Not knowing what else to do, he panted the remaining distance to the station. He sat down on a bench and tried to think, but nothing would come to his mind but the sight of the team's getting onto the train and the sound of their last wild yells to him.

Just then he spied a familiar figure coming up the platform. It was "Crazy Pete," a half-witted resident of F—. This gave him an idea. Why not have Pete take him, in his flivver, to Wolsey Junction, where the train stopped at 2:45? Stub thought that if they took a short cut, they could reach the Junction at that time. He ran up to Pete.

"Hello, Pete. How are you today?" he began genially.

"Wa-al, I be 'fair to mid'lin,' as they say. He! He!"

"Oh, I say, Pete, how's your flivver working these days?"

"By crackety, there isn't a flivver in this country that's better than mine. Just give'er a kick, and away she goes! He! He!"

"Now listen here, Pete. If you'll take me to Wolsey Junction right away, I'll get you a —a can of tobacco!" Pete could hardly grasp such a complicated proposition, but finally he understood, and acquiesced. In five minutes they were off for the Junction in Pete's puffing, rattling Ford. Until 2:30 they bumped along at quite a fair rate of speed. But as they started up a steep hill, "Lizzie" began to miss. She gasped and snorted, but finally gave one last puff and stopped, absolutely dead. "Well, I reckon she's stopped, hain't she? He! He!" remarked Pete.

Stub felt like shaking him, but he wisely refrained. He thought almost despairingly of the game in which he was to play such an important part, and of the anxious team. Just then a bright thought struck him. He lifted up the front seat and examined the gas tank. It was stone dry. Stub resolved to beg, borrow, or steal some gas from the nearest farm-house. In ten minutes he had persuaded an irate farmer to lend him some gas, and was back to the car with it. By 2:40 they were on their way again, with two miles to go.

"Step on it, Pete! More gas, more gas! We have to be there in five minutes. Two cans of tobacco if you get me there in five minutes. Hurry, Pete!" Thus Stub, now frantic, was urging Pete. They were approaching a corner from which they could see the train. Just as they turned, they saw it nearing the Junction at the rate of forty miles per hour. Here was a race! The Ford was also going forty miles an hour, but the train reached the Junction before they did. If it would only wait long enough! Stub was half out of the car as they reached the Junction—all ready to leap off—but his exertions were all in vain, for just then the train started to move. Stub was on the fender, waving and yelling, but the train kept going faster. He jumped off and started up the track after it, but it kept gaining on him, and finally went from sight around the bend.

Stub mopped his forehead. "Whew!" he ejaculated. "Wh—what a race!"

He returned to Pete, who was lazily surveying the country, and brought him the promised tobacco. Pete departed with a grin.

Stub was again left to his own resources, with twenty-seven minutes in which to cover the fifteen miles separating him and J——. "It looks rather one-sided. Father Time is going to beat me to it, I'm afraid," thought Stub. He laughed weakly.

He finally decided to start off on foot in the general direction of J——. Better late than never. "I'll be mighty late, though," soliloquized Stub. "Fifteen miles! Whew!"

As he was crossing a pasture, he heard a buzzing noise above him. He looked up, and saw an aeroplane about to land in the pasture. He quickly betook himself to the fence and watched it. While gazing at it intently, he put his hand into his pocket. He pulled something crinkly out. It was a ten dollar bill. "I wonder if I could get a fifteen-mile aeroplane ride for that," he mused. As the aviator got out, Stub approached him. He was a tow-headed, freckled-faced lad of about seventeen years. Stub's spirits rose. When Stub had given him the circumstances, the boy grinned cheerfully.

"You bet your life I'll give you a ride, and I don't want any ten dollar bill either. I used to play on the F—— football team myself. I'll have you in J—— by 3:05 o'clock. Come along."

Stub felt like a romantic hero as he limbed into the cockpit. He was certainly getting a lot of thrills. The trip was very short, for they made good time. True to his word, the boy landed Stub at J—— at 3:05 o'clock. After thanking him warmly, Stub set out on a run for the football field.

The F—— team had been arguing about what to do ever since Stub was left at F——. They had come to no decision, but were still talking, more excitedly and vehemently than before. You can imagine the kind of welcome Stub received when he appeared on the field.

After the game, too, Stub was the center of attraction, for he played no small part in giving J—— the defeat they received.

ESTHER HAIGHT

Joyce Finds A Way

Joyce Mannering walked slowly home from school. The fire of rebellion was burning in her heart. She did so want to go with the girls. But she knew that her father would say, "I am sorry, Joyce, but I just can't afford it."

"I don't see why I always have to skimp and save, and never have any fun", she stormed. As an accompaniment to her thoughts, there came a clatter, a cry and then, "Joyce, don't you know any better than to knock my leg from under me? You know I can't stand up without it." Little lame Jimmy spoke in a bantering voice. Of all the girls, Joyce was his favorite, because she lived up to her name so well.

But Joyce, a Joyce he had never known, frowned and answered crossly, "Keep your old crutch out of the way, then. I can't always be watching out for you."

At these cruel words, poor little Jimmy's lips quivered and tears came into his eyes. Joyce, filled with remorse, picked up the little fellow's crutch and then walked along beside him.

After a few minutes of silence Jimmy spoke. "What's the matter, Joyce? Can't you tell a fellow? You know I won't tell. Why I can keep a secret 'most as long as anybody."

"Well, you see it's this way, Jims," Joyce said at length. "Miss Howell is taking six of the girls on a camping trip in the mountains. She asked me to go along. Oh, I do so want to go. You can't imagine how badly I want to go, Jimmy."

"Oh, can't I though? Haven't I always wanted to go to the country? All I ever see is buildings and then more buildings. But say, Joyce, why don't you go?"

"Why, Jimmy McDowell, you know very well I can't. You know as well as I do that father can't spare the money. Why, it'd cost almost ten dollars. I wish that old college would pay daddy more. They know he ought to have it." Again a frown covered Joyce's face.

"I'd earn the money myself if I had two legs." With these parting words Jimmy turned and hobbled home.

Joyce went on, pondering over the words of Jimmy. It seemed as though he had said, "Earn it yourself. Earn it yourself!" But how? That was the question.

Suddenly she stopped. For a moment she stood undecided. Then, half to herself and half to the sparrow perched on the curb, she said, "I'm no weakiing! I'll do or die."

She ran back to the schoolhouse. When she arrived there, she was breathless and hot.

She burst into the office of Miss Pichard, who had the title of the "crossest" teacher in the school. The teacher stared at her over her gold-rimmed spectacles. Then, in a cold, icy, almost freezing tone she asked, "Well, what can I do for you?"

Joyce was nervous. There was no question about that. But she managed to say, "I heard that you wished to hire a girl to help you correct papers."

Miss Pichard's steely eyes were upon her, boring through and through her. At least, it seemed so to Joyce.

"Well, what of it?" she asked impatiently.

"I—I thought perhaps I might do," stammered Joyce.

Miss Pichard was surprised. To have Joyce, the daughter of a prominent college professor, ask for a position was astounding. She had expected some studious, poor girl to apply. What did Joyce want with extra money? Joyce's father had all she needed. (Miss Pichard did not know that Joyce's father was keeping three boys in college.) Well, she would find out before she gave her the position.

"Do you mind telling me what you intend to do with the money? Something foolish, I fancy."

This was rather a shock to Joyce. She had not expected to have to tell what she wanted the money for. But she told the teacher of the proposed camping trip, and of her great desire to go. Needless to say, Miss Pichard hired her.

The next three weeks before the close of school, found Joyce correcting papers. All her spare time was spent in the teacher's office. But at the end of the three weeks, she had her camping money and more besides.

The last day of school came. On her way home from school Joyce met Jimmy.

"Where you been all this time, Joyce? Why, I haven't seen you for 'most three weeks."

Joyce did not take time to answer this question. "I'm going, Jimmy! I'm going camping!" she cried, "and I earned the money all myself!"

"Well," replied Jimmy, "one of those old history men said, 'God helps them who help themselves,' and I guess he knew what he was talking about. I'm going to the country, too."

With the opening of school, the prospects for a football team for Fort Atkinson were not so bright as they had been the two previous years. But with Captain Jones, Douglas Roethel, Wesley Heinze, and Arthur McNitt, veterans of last year, there was much available material which gave promise of a strong team.

When the season closed, Fort Atkinson had won four games and lost four, scoring 85 points to their opponents' 69, a record to be proud of considering the number of inexperienced men.

Though the team will lose six men, next year's team, with Arthur McNitt as leader, ought to be a strong aggregation.

Football Games

MILTON COLLEGE 0—FORT 6

The Milton College second team came here Friday, September 28. The whistle blew and we had our choice of goals. We kicked off to them. The first quarter ended with neither side scoring. The first half ended with a touchdown in our favor. Our boys were outweighed by the Milton fellows, but played a clean, hard game. With Douglas Roethel as our savior, the game ended 0 to 6.

MADISON 19—FORT 0

On Saturday, October 6, the Fort High warriors played their first game with Madison East Side High. The players of Madison were experienced and heavy, while our team was lacking three regulars—Captain Jones, McNitt, and Gebhardt. The Fort players at first made things look gloomy for the East Side athletes, but in the last three quarters Madison sailed the ball about in the air and steady gains resulted. Fort tried several passes during the game, but our boys were "not there" this time. Madison succeeded in making three touchdowns before the final whistle. Captain Halverson, a star player for Madison, made a point after the touchdowns. The game ended with 19 points in favor of Madison.

FORT 6—JFFFERSON 7

On Saturday, October 13, Fort met Jefferson on the Jefferson field. The teams were very evenly matched, as the score showed. Fort scored first when Jefferson fumbled the ball and Heinze recovered it for a touchdown. The goal was not kicked, however. Jefferson came back strong and swept down the field with her passes and crossed Fort's goal line. Goal was kicked, and the game ended with the score 7 to 6 in Jefferson's favor.

EDGERTON 19—FORT 0

On Saturday, October 20, the Edgerton High School athletes came over to Fort's gridiron, and left with a victory. Edgerton, having an experienced team and outweighing our players, succeeded in carrying the ball across the mark for three touchdowns. Their sturdy players held their own and prevented their opponents taking a walk away. The visitors made their gains by clever plays and true pass work. The F. H. S. gridders were forced to leave the field defeated. Nevertheless, much is gained by defeat, and F. H. S. has a team which will profit by it.

MILTON UNION 6—FORT 12

On Friday, October 26, Fort went to Milton with hip boots and rain coats. The ground was very wet, which was not favorable to either side. Milton had her choice of goals. During the first quarter, Milton made a touchdown and failed to kick. The second quarter started with the score 6 to 0 in favor of our opponents; Fort made a touchdown and the first half ended 6 to 6. The third quarter ended with another touchdown added to our six points, making the score 12 to 6. A punt was blocked at center on Milton's five-yard line and a Fort man slid over the scoring point. Fort failed to kick goal each time. The fourth quarter ended the same as the third, the final score remaining 12 to 6. This game showed the real fight in the F. H. S. players.

JEFFERSON 13—FORT 7

On November 3, Jefferson came to Fort Atkinson determined again to take our scalp; but Fort was equally determined that she should not. The result was a close game. As in their first meeting, Fort was first to score when Roethel intercepted a Jefferson pass and ran for a touchdown. Jefferson came back and scored a touchdown, but failed to kick goal and the first half ended with the score in Fort's favor. In the second half Jefferson opened up with her passes and carried the ball down the field for an easy touchdown. She kicked goal and the score remained 13 to 7, with Jefferson holding down the long end.

BEAVER DAM 6—FORT 21

November 7, Beaver Dam came here confident of winning over our warriors. Their pride, however, was soon shaken when they saw what they were to play against. The Beaver team outweighed us, but our motto was "the bigger they are, the harder they fall." The Beavers got their touchdown first when through a series of end runs from the twenty-yard line, they were able to put the ball over the line. This awakened the Fort players and they soon put the ball over three times by long passes. The game ended 21 to 6 in the fighting team's favor.

FORT 33—WHITEWATER 0

On Turkey day, the F. H. S. football players showed football fans that they knew the game. Despite the wet, slippery field, the Fort backfieldmen tore through the scrappy Whitewater eleven for five touchdowns. The Whitewater team put up a stiff fight, often making good gains against our strong line, but the great work done by Roethel, Dornbush, and every one of the players gave us the honor for the day. Winning the final game of the season binds the strong spirit of F. H. S. in athletics still more securely; it leaves with us bright hopes for future teams.

The game played here on Turkey day with Whitewater H. S. closed the football season for 1923. Although the record of the year does not equal that of 1922, it is one of which we may feel proud. The schedule for the year included strong opponents, Fort coming out of the series of battles with four victories and four defeats. Twelve experienced players will leave the school; however, there is plenty of good material left and much more to be obtained, and the team of 1924 promises to be as strong as its predecessor.

FOOTBALL BANQUET

The 1923 football banquet, given by the Domestic Science Department, was held at the High School. Thirty-two players and officials attended. Mr. Jeffords acted as toastmaster, and the following were called upon to give toasts: Mr. Bray, Mr. Beach, Mr. Vosburg, Wesley Heinze, Douglas Roethel, Arthur McNitt, and Ivan Jones.

At the close of the banquet, Arthur McNitt was elected captain of the 1924 team. Emblems were awarded to Captain Ivan Jones, Arthur McNitt, Douglas Roethel, Wesley Heinze, Lyle Sund, Denzil Wheeler, George Rickerman, Clarence Buending, Fred Dornbush, and Gerhardt Schultz.

The basket ball season this year started out with the interclass tournament. After this the regular practice began. Because of its inexperienced players, the team was rather handicapped. There were only two of last year's men on the squad. Although the boys did not win a very large number of games, the old Fort spirit was shown at all times, and the boys and their coach deserve much credit for their efforts. "F's" were awarded to the following: Willis Wilson, Wesley Heinze, Cecil Smith, Otto Edwards, and Lyle Sund.

Wesley Heinze was elected captain of next year's team and with three experienced fellows, besides other promising material, the prospects for next year's team look good.

JOHNSON CREEK 15—FORT 9

Fort played her first game of basketball here, with Johnson Creek, January 9. The game was clean and snappy, the Johnson Creek players showing fine ability at handling the ball. The F. H. S. players did their share to make the game exciting, however, new men and inaccuracy at shooting baskets left them behind. The first half ended 9—2 in Johnson Creek's favor. The Fort players came back strong in the second half, scoring seven points to their opponents six. But seven extra points did not put them in the lead, and Johnson Creek held the victory banner.

FORT 29—CAMBRIDGE 16

On Friday evening, January 11, Fort met Cambridge on the latter's floor, in their second basketball game of the season. Cambridge was outclassed from the start but, nevertheless, they put up a good fight and the game was more exciting than the score indicates, viz., 29—16 with the Fort cagers on the long end.

WHITEWATER 28—FORT 8

On January 18, the basketball team of Whitewater visited our floor, carrying off a victory after a stiff fight. Our players lost mainly because of the large number of easy shots which went wild. The Fort quintet took the lead during the first part of the game, but in the second half Whitewater found the basket, and a series of well placed tosses soon changed the lead. As the final whistle blew, Whitewater led by five hard earned points.

JEFFERON 13—FORT 8

At Jefferson Friday, January 25, Fort lost to her old rival by a score of 13 to 8. Four free throws in the second half put Jefferson in the lead; the first half ended with Jefferson leading 7 to 6. Only two field goals were registered in the third and fourth quarters, each team getting one. Although the Fort players did some real preforming, Jefferson led by five points when the game ended. Not one foul was called on Jefferson.

MILTON UNION 12—FORT 20

On January 26, th Milton High School basketball team met the Fort H. S. basketball team at the High School gymnasium. The Fort players were in good form, playing a clean, fast game. At the very outset of the game the Fort High School quintet took the lead, the visitors never heading them. The Milton players exhibited some fine passes, but lost out in caging the ball.

STOUGHTON 21—FORT 15

Friday, February 1, Fort met the strong Stoughton team on the home floor. Fort played a fine brand of basketball up to the fourth quarter, holding Stoughton down to a 13—8 score. In the fourth quarter the tables were turned and the Stoughton cagers dropped in enough baskets to win by a 21—15 score.

The score by quarters is as follows:

	1	2	3	4	Total
Stoughton	2	4	2	13	21
Fort Atkinson	6	5	2	2	15

CAMBRIDGE 16—FORT 15

On Friday evening, February 8, the Cambridge basketeers came to Fort seeking revenge for the defeat we gave them a month ago. The game was fast and snappy. Fort led in the first half, but Cambridge came back with a good eye for the basket and piled up enough points to claim the better half of a 16—15 score.

MILTON 41—FORT 6

When the Fort Atkinson basketball team went to Milton Saturday, February 23, they found an entirely different team to face from that in the previous Milton-Fort game played here. Due to the character of the gymnasium, and playing against a flashy, well trained team, the Fort team suffered defeat. Our players tried long shots at first, but the ball was usually obstructed when the arch was made. Close guarding on the part of the Milton players kept the Fort players from making short shots. As the final whistle blew, Milton Union held an easily won victory, leading by 35 points.

JEFFERSON 14—FORT 16

On Friday evening, February 29, the Jefferson cagers came to Fort with high hopes of giving her another defeat, thereby making it four straight. Fort was equally determined that she should not, so the result was a close game. Both teams were in excellent form and the Fort boys played their best game of the season. It was anybody's game to the end. The final score being 16—14 with our boys on the long end. A large crowd witnessed the contest and they received plenty of thrills. The game was clean and fast and was featured with spectacular shots by Capt. Wilson and Heinze.

WHITEWATER 22—FORT 17

The Fort High School basketeers ended the season at Whitewater March 4, by losing to Whitewater High 28—8. The game was much closer than the score indicates and considering all, it was a well played game. The Fort players were seriously handicapped, because of the large court, on which the playing was done. The Whitewater players showed fine judgment when it came to dropping the ball in the basket. They, being used to the floor, found it easy to play upon, and took the victory.

Tennis

During the last few years tennis has become one of the most popular of the high school activities in Fort Atkinson. The association has a membership of about eighty-one students. The officers are: George Sherman, President; Wesley Heinze, Vice-president; Russell Rheineck, Secretary and Treasurer.

As the Tchogeerrah goes to press, there are being constructed two new courts which with the old one, which is being made over, gives us very good courts with which to carry on a very successful year in tennis. The plans are being made for boys and girls singles and doubles tournaments.

Track

During the 1923-24 school year, a new field of athletics has been taken up. Fort Atkinson has not been represented in track work since 1909. This year she will participate in the Rock River Valley Conference meet which will be held May 16. As this book goes to press before that date, no results can be given. Several dual meets will be held during the season with nearby schools. The Fort Atkinson High School has plenty of excellent material, out of which a first-class track team may be selected. The students are taking a strong interest in the track work, and with steady practice and excellent coaching, prospects for a successful season are very favorable.

Dec. 20,—College students are back and many pay their old High School a visit.

Dec. 21,—All are engaged in reading the Christmas issue of the Green Gossip. Much credit must be given to the Freshmen.

Vacation—Hurrah! Who's Sorry Now?

THE TCHOGEERRAH - 1924

JANUARY

Jan. 2—School starts this morning and puts a spirit in every heart to accomplish the things which we failed to succeed in last year.

Jan. 3—Ardys Hake sells the most subscriptions and reeeives a girl's Conklin fountain pen. Harold Roessler sells most for the boys and also receives a fountain pen. Eversharp pencils are given to those who sold 3 or more.

Jan. 4—Has the Annual your snapshot? It's wanted every Tuesday morning.

Jan. 7—Why linger and put it off when it needs to be done sooner or later? Every report card must be in Friday.

Jan. 9—Our hearts now turn towards another field. Basketball. Come on, boys let's go. Johnson Creek 15, Fort 9.

Jan. 10—The Headless Horseman, a movie of Washington Irving's "Legend of Sleepy Hollow."

Seniors hold a class meeting.

Jan. 11—Nine "rahs" for the team. Cambridge 16, Fort 29.

Jan. 14—Exams, exams, a word that is on the lips of every student.

Jan. 15—Exemption lists posted. What a rush! Miss Spry finds it necessary to guard her door to save someone from dashing through it.

Jan. 16-17-18—Final examinations.

Jan. 21—All seem to have recovered from the siege of examinations.

Thirty sub-freshmen increase our enrollment. Beginning this semester, all who are guilty of the following motto are obliged to cast it aside: "I give as little as I can and get as much as possible."

Jan. 22—A Senior class meeting.

Pay for your Green Gossip on time. Reading such a list of names must surely have a bad effect upon Jeff's voice.

Jan. 23—The majority of the girls have their hair curled. We'll "Leave it to Gloria."

Jan. 24—Mr. Jeffords gives the following sound conclusion to his history pupils: "From my experience as a clerk on Saturday I've been convinced that women are harder to please than men."

Jan. 25—All enjoyed the mass meeting. Mr. Bingham's drama of 3 acts, showing the basketball game with Jefferson reproduced, was very well played. Much better shown than the real warriors did. Jefferson 13, Fort 8.

Jan. 26—On top once more. Milton 12, Fort 20.

Jan. 28—Debate boys are working hard on their speeches.

Jan. 29—It's a favorite,—"Coming for to Carry Me Home."

Jan. 31—Annual staff heads meet with Miss Smith in room 19.

FEBRUARY

Feb. 1—We have some very fine male voices. Here is hoping we hear them again giving us some fine selection such as, "Last Night on the Back Porch."

Feb. 4—Stormy weather. When lights flicker off and on, Mr. Bray advocates closing the eyes to become accustomed to the darkness.

Feb. 5—What's the matter with Mr. Bray's eye? The Rinky Dinks must be growing furious.

Feb. 6—Too many failures. We wonder if less hair primping and powdering would serve as a prevention.

Feb. 8—Our debate boys give a preliminary debate at the Junior High School. It is heartily received.

Feb. 11—The various classes meet with their presidents to discuss the purchase of debate tickets.

Feb. 12—Lincoln's birthday. A program is given in his honor.

Feb. 13—Mass meeting. Debate boys give us an account of what they are going to do to put Fort on top.

Feb. 14—Mr. Vincent, Jefferson High School teacher, gives a valuable talk on, "The important steps in choosing an occupation."

Feb. 15,—Rah-rah! No school. Teacher's meeting at Madison.

Feb. 18,—Wesley Wetzel, John Eales, and Herbert Wisch report on their trip to Janesville and tell a few of their encounters there.

Feb. 19,—Seventy students are out for tennis. They choose for president, George Sherman, vice-president, Wesley Heinze, secretary and treasurer, Russell Rheineck.

Feb. 21,—Have you been so fortunate as to have had a ride in the "Adeline?"

Feb. 22,—A George Washington program is given by the English department. It plainly proves that F. H. S. has many talented students.

Feb. 25,—Seniors have meeting to discuss class play.

Feb. 26,—Carnival is the word. Are you doing your part?

Feb. 27,—Students and faculty enjoy a Schubert program.

Feb. 28,—The Freshmen of last semester leave a green reminder of their greener day in the shape of a fern.

Feb. 29,—The World's Noted Trio make a wager against the basketball players. The boys not only gain victory over Jefferson by two points, but also victory over Mr. Bray, George Sherman and Wesley Wetzel.

MARCH

the movie, "Robin Hood."

Mar. 3,—The student body and faculty enjoy a vocal duet by George Sherman and Mr. Frank Bray. The melodious tones which Wesley Wetzel brought forth from the notes of "Sweet Apple Time", added much to the vocal number. We hope we shall hear the "World's Noted Trio" again in the near future.

Mar. 4,—It is noticeable that many students approach the teachers with their report cards. Mr. Bray states that it does not pay to argue with the umpire.

Mar. 5,—Students are dismissed at 3:00 o'clock in order that they may see

Mar. 10—Preparations are being made for the carnival. The reading of the names of all students who are going to represent "The Country Cousins" arouses our interest.

Mar. 11—All welcome the fifteen minute study period.

Mar. 12—Again we are victorious in debate, Fort winning from Lodi and Waupun.

Mar. 14—Miss Knilans gives the assignment to her Physiology class by saying, "Tomorrow we will take alcohol." Why, Miss Knilans!

Mar. 17—Brilliant seniors wear green ribbons in honor of St. Patrick.

Mar. 18—Preliminaries for the girls' declamatory contest of Freshmen and Sophomores is held. The fortunate are Evelyn Homan, Gavena Vickery, Ethel Kranz and Miriam Dexheimer.

Miss Peterson, a representative of the Jell-o Company, gives an interesting demonstration on the preparation of Jell-o.

Mar. 19—Mr. Jeffords reads an article from "Good Housekeeping". We wonder if it wasn't for the benefit of Miss Graves more than for the student body. We express our hearty congratulations to Mrs. Fiedler.

Mar. 20—Spring fever results in note throwers and talkative persons, bringing on three expulsions.

Mar. 21—The night of the Carnival arrives and what an enjoyable time everyone has, which explains its great success.

Mar. 24—Mr. W. Kiesling and Mr. F. Muck, students of Lawrence College, speak to us on the advantage of going to a small college.

Mar. 25—The Junior-Sienior girls' declamatory contest is held. The following are chosen, Irene Sievert, Arvilla Boese, Lucille Durant, and Beatrice Neumann.

Mar. 26—Seniors approach Mr. Bray and find out their ranks for their four years' work.

Mar. 27—Many of the students attend the matinee, "Wisconsin in Action."

APRIL

April 1—Many Seniors are aware of its being "April Fool Day".

April 2—Jerome Hake plays "Dan Cupid."

April 3—Whether to bob or not to bob nowadays is the question.

April 4—Ten Seniors are selected for this year's Class play.

April 7—The by-words are the declamatory, and oratorical contests to be held April 10 and 11. There are many scowls and worries whether the pieces will be mastered.

April 8—The Milton College Glee Club is well attended, regardless of the April showers.

April 9—The new tennis courts are under construction; they will be ready for use immediately after vacation.

April 10—William Urban receives first place in the oratorical contest.

April 11—Miriam Dexheimer wins first place in the declamatory contest. At last spring vacation is here.

MAY—JUNE

April 18—Miss Grace Kelsey arrives to direct the class play.

April 19—Eight students were held up and robbed, Saturday evening, April 19, 1924 at 11,00 o'clock at the intersection of Whitewater Avenue and South Main Street.

April 29—League Declamtory and Oratorical Contest at Edgerton.

May 1-2—Class Play.

May 17—Junior Prom.

May 23—Mr. Bray gives commencement address at Cuba, Wisconsin. Mr. Bray graduated from the high school of that city twenty-eight years ago.

May 30—Decoration day.

June 2-3-4—Final examinations.

June 5—Fifty-sixth Annual Commencement.

June 6—Alumni Banquet.

Our F. H. S. Dictionary

Absence—A state of vacancy caused by too late hours, midnight feasts, and over study.

Alumni—A bunch of students who have done what we are attempting to do.

Bluff— An effort of the student body to talk on something they know nothing about. Do it whenever you can.

Case—A feeling toward something which Freshmen haven't for Algebra.

Date—An enjoyable length of time spent by a boy and girl. Some people like them and some don't. It generally depends on who the other person is.

Examination—A set of impossible questions presented to the students by a teacher. The only remedy is to bluff.

Failure—A mark on your report card written in red ink. Most people like red better than blue anyway.

Flunk—See failure.

Freshman—A big mixture of greenness, inquisitivesness and gibberishness.

Grades—A list of failures copied neatly on a card to be taken home. There is much embarrassment at this time.

Honors—Rewards received by a few students for their hard labor. If someone refuses to speak to you, possibly it is because he has received one of these honors.

Indolence—Idleness, or lack of work, on studies. It has been stated that this sometimes causes red ink on report cards.

Juniors—The smartest (?) bunch in High School. There is nothing they refuse to attempt, nor anything that they attempt that they finish.

Kicked Out—A term sometimes applied to those who talk in the halls.

Latin—A two or four year course that is extremely painful.

Music—A form of entertainment enjoyed by the assembly on certain mornings. This is sometimes mistaken for a cry of distress by those who are down stairs.

Notes—Manuscripts passed from seat to seat when the teachers are not looking.

Office—A small room where our principal conceals himself. He who has not been there before has something exciting coming.

Permit—The most unnecessary thing ever invented. Always signed F. C. Bray. Our advice is not to enter a class room without one.

Quiz—See Examination.

Recitation—When a bluff, a faint noise, murmured under your breath; when certain, a distinct yell uttered by the pupil.

Sophomore—A somewhat improved bunch of Freshmen. We don't imagine it would be wise to tell them, however.

Tardiness—Lateness caused by oversleep.

Unprepared—A state of not being able to bluff. The result is usually zero.

Vanity—In vogue in the girls' locker room in front of the mirror.

X—A letter that all Algebra is based on.

Yelling—See music.

Zero—The lowest mark teachers may give. Nevertheless, sometimes they present you with more than one.

How Could You Do Without Service?

A "serve-self" restaurant may be all right, but the clothing business could not be run on that basis. Service has to go with every purchase.

We begin serving you when we do our buying —we know you can't take time to check up closely on values, so we must use extra precautions to get only the most serviceable goods. No matter what you may choose out of our stock it must be satisfactory.

We must serve you when you come into the store —we must not sell you what it's most to our advantage to sell, but we must help you buy what best fills your requirements.

If it's a suit of clothes, our service extends to finding a fit as well as a fabric that pleases you. If you want advice we must be ready to advise in your interest.

Our service must continue after the sale is completed. The goods must reach you with reasonable promptness and in the best of condition.

Oftener than you realize, perhaps, the Service you buy is of greater consequence to you than the Merchandise you buy. We hope you'll remember that sometime when you're tempted to buy clothing on the basis of no-service or service-in-name-only. It simply doesn't work out in the clothing business, that's all.

HOW SHOCKING!

Arnim L.: My dog kisses me every time I come home.
Dorothy M.: Lucky dog.

Mr. Beach: Where does the salt in the sea come from?
Helen H.: Wasn't there a man that had a salt mill and he dropped it in or something?
Mr. Beach: Oh, here, here, science doesn't believe in fairy tales.

YOU NEVER CAN TELL 'TILL YOU TRY

J. M.: Did you ever read "To a Fieldmouse?"
F. M.: No, will he listen?

CRUEL MOTHER

Mrs. Clark: In case of an epidemic of smallpox, how would your mother prevent your getting it?
G. K. She'd either have me vaccinated or shot.

THAT IS TRUE, TOO

Miss Hessing (in English class): What is Providence?
Sophomore: The capital of Rhode Island.

Miss Spry: How do we get rid of Senators, Congressmen, Presidents, and Vice-presidents?
Ruth Morris: Impeach them.
Miss Spry: All of them?
Ruth: One at a time.

IN FRENCH HE MEANS

Arnim (translating French word "tablier"): Skirt.
Miss Hoppenyan (correcting): Apron.
Arnim: That's the same thing.

Wesley Heinze (in Social Economics): Orchids are flowers that grow.

Miss H. Hessing (pronouncing "lamentable"): Don't make so much of the men.

CERTAINLY

G. Schultz: There were about 4,000,000 men in the United States in 1789.
Miss Spry: Yes, and there were probably some women, too.

Business IS THE PROFESSION THAT

offers You the Most Money

AND THE HIGHEST SOCIAL STANDING

Think of the outstanding men and women of America, and you will instantly recognize that of all professions, Business is the most important.

Almost without exception, those who are the leaders in American Business (and that means the leaders in the world's commerce) began their remarkable careers as secretaries, bookkeepers, and stenographers. They have won their way to the top because of their early training.

Make your time and energy do something for you. Choose Business for your career.

Choose the profession that guarantees you Success and Financial Independence. Why even consider putting in years of preparation for some other line when you can be in business quickly?

Write, call or telephone for full information. It's free.

JANESVILLE BUSINESS COLLEGE

Mr. Jeffords: Ivan, can you add to what has been given?
Ivan: President Harding went up to Alaska and died from ptomaine poisoning he got from eating choke-cherries.

SOMEONE IS ONLY "HALF THERE"

Freshman: About how many students are there in your history class?
Senior: Between thirty-nine and forty.

Mr. Bingham (in Chemistry class): If I mix sugar and water, what will I have?
George Drewsen: Sugar-water.

WHAT DA YA' MEAN, "FRESH"

Mr. Beach (in Biology class): I know these angle-worms aren't as fresh as you would like them.

NEW IDEA!

Mr. Bray (after giving his Geometry class strings): Now tie a hole in your string.

Mr. Bingham: Can you break up water?
Junior: If it is frozen.

ADVICE TO JOKE READERS

If to laugh at all these jokes
You have to read them twice,
You'll know you're in the class of folks
Who need this bright advice:
Over your studies you must pour
And a little knowledge reap,
Because unless you know some more
For you these jokes are deep. D. M.

G. Schultz: There were about 4,0000,000 men in the United States in 1789.

HAVE A HEART, TEACHER

Marion W.: Do you pronounce the name of that Russian dictator, Lenin?
Miss G. Hessing: Put your eye in the other place.

IT MUST HAVE BEEN LONG DISTANCE ELECTROPLATING

Junior: Mr. Beach used my ring to demonstrate electroplating in class today, and see, it's covered with copper!
Freshman: Why didn't you have him "reverse the charges?"

A MAN BEST UNDERSTANDS HIS NATIVE LANGUAGE

Mr. Beach (giving students of Biology some crabs): Come, now, get your playthings to play with.

Miss G. Hessing: Cecil, if someone handed you a five dollar gold bank note and a five dollar gold piece, which would you take?
Cecil S.: The gold piece.
Miss Hessing: Most children do like things that glisten.

LIGHT OCCUPATION

The following appeared on a type-written sheet, when a Junior struck an "i" instead of an "a":
"A man was out tripping rabbits one day."

BANG! ! !

There was a chemistry tuff
Who mixed up a compound of stuff,
He threw a match in the pile;
And after a while
They found his front teeth and a cuff.
—George Drewsen.

A VIOLENT MEASURE

Miss Smith: Name a cylindrical measure used in the kitchen.
Willis W.: A rolling-pin.
